Montevideo, 19th

In regard to the construction of the port in this city, Government called for amended and reduced proposals. The Greenwoods refuse to send in such proposals until after the revolution is over, which practically and really amounts to a withdrawal. Notwithstanding the recent Government victories, which are the beginning of the end of the revolution, Messrs Pearson & Sons will get the contract for any port that is made here. This reflects great credit on the diplomatic abilities of Mr. Macdonald, representative of Pearson, who has conducted these delicate negotiations with a skill and tact which indicate him as the proper man to be selected to arrange the Greco-Turkish question.

Stand-by O'Gorman.

(Per Havas Agency.)

THE WAR.

The panic in Athens.

A last stand to be made at the Pass of Thermopylae.

The gallant bayonet charges by Italian volunteers.

Railway accident in Germany.

Vienna, 19th—The papers here praise the Sultan for granting the armistice.

Telegrams from the seat of war say that both armies have hoisted white flags, and that the troops on both sides have received strict orders not to cross the dividing line.

London, 19th—Oscar Wilde was released to-day, having served his full term of of imprisonment.

Berlin, 19th—The official report just issued say that only eleven soldiers were killed in the railway accident at Gerolstein.

Athens, 19th—Prince Constantine telegraphs from Mount Othrys that he has reorganized his army so that, in spite of its inferiority in numbers, he hopes to be able to repel any fresh attack by the Turks.

Rome, 19th—Ricicotti Garibaldi has sent a long telegram to this city giving the details of the battle of Domokos, during which the Garibaldi volunteers fought bravely. The heavy part of the fight was carried on by the Italian volunteers against the Turkish right wing. The Turkish troops were pursued for a distance of three kilometres, many of them were killed and a considerable number taken prisoners. Fratti, the Republican Deputy, was killed during one of the charges of the Italian volunteers in this battle.

Rome, 19th—At the sitting of the Chamber of Deputies to-day, honourable mentions were made in memory of Fratti, the Republican Deputy, who fell at the battle of Domokos. His death caused a painful impression amongst those occupying the benches.

Paris, 19th—There is a rumour current that the armistice between Turks and Greeks was signed this morning. Its duration is not known, but all the papers think that peace between the two countries will soon be signed, and that Turkey will only demand a war indemnity the amount of which will certainly be less than the ten million of Turkish pounds at first asked for.

New York, 19th—The declaration of Senator Hawley, President of the Military Committee, in reference to the U. States not being prepared for war, and that consequently any interference in the Cuban Question should be confined to Diplomatic action, is much commented on.

Berlin, 19th—A telegram from Treves announces that a train carrying troops ran off the line last night near Gerolstein. Six waggons, the engine and tender were completely destroyed, while some 20 soldiers were killed and over 60 injured.

London, 19th—A telegram from Lamia states that in the battle of Domokos the foreign volunteers performed veritable deeds of heroism. The Italian legion especially distinguished themselves: on several occasions they charged on the enemy with the bayonet, killing many of their number and spiking two guns. It is rumoured that the Italians, besides losing Deputy Fratti, suffered a loss of 8 killed and 72 wounded.

Antwerp, 19th—A thousand men employed in the foundries went on strike today. It is feared that the movement may spread, and precautions have been taken by the police.

Brussels, 19th—M. de Pavereau, Minister for Foreign Affairs, declared to-day in the Chamber that extradition-treaties would shortly be signed with several South American States.

Budapesth, 19th—A great storm is raging on the Adriatic coast and several wrecks have been already reported.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

(Received after Midnight.)

Athens, 19th—(9 p.m.)—The consternation caused here by the repeated reverses suffered by the Greek arms is indescribable and the popular excitement is still on the increase. Notwithstanding the news about an armistice it is feared that the Turkish army may yet attack Athens.

Tangier, 19th—A special envoy from the Sultan embarked to-day for Marseilles, on his way to Paris where he will enter into negotiations respecting the frequent encounters that are taking place on the Algerian frontier. It is expected that all difficulties will be easily arranged.

Paris, 20th (12.40 a.m.)—A despatch has just arrived from Athens announcing that the Ralli Cabinet held to-night a long council to consider the present situation. It is known that it was decided to send M. Theotoki, the Minister for the Interior, and M. Eftakias, his colleague for Public Instruction, to assist Prince Constantine in his work of reorganizing the army which is to be concentrated on the heights defending the famous Pass of Thermopylæ. This pass is reputed to be impregnable and it is believed that any advance of the Turks might here easily be barred. Its length is 7 kilometres and its breadth 90 to 100 metres. Thermopylæ is the gateway of ancient Greece from Thessaly.

TURKEY AND EUROPE.

To even the superficial observer, the shaping of European events, as pourtrayed by the cable, is now a matter of deep interest, not unmixed with misgiving, for, close our eyes as we will, we know there always exists a prospect of complications. Indeed, a fair idea of the uneven distribution of power and influence, and at the same time of the trend of certain ever-growing ambitions, may be gathered from the circumstances immediately preceding the declaration of armistice by the Sublime Porte. It will be remembered that after the crushing defeat inflicted on the Greeks on the classical plains of Farsala, the hopelessness of further resistance on the part of the incompetent rulers of the land of Pallas was so apparent that the Ambassadors at once pressed the Sultan for a declaration of cessation of hostilities. At the same time the probable claims of the Porte were bruited, provoking an outburst of opinion that was reechoed on the shores of the Bosphorus. It is only logical to suppose that the Sultan, relying on a support wisely withheld from public view, was anxious to sound the European mind and at the same time test his own increased power. So far from hostilities ceasing or the Ottoman claims diminishing, Edhem Pasha advanced on Damokos and, after a sanguinary battle, carried the positions which Prince Constantine had spoken of as impregnable. Again the Ambassadors interfered; again they pressed the Sultan to proclaim an armistice; again the Porte hesitated. This period of vacillation was brought to a stop yesterday in quite a sensational manner. The Sultan received a telegram from the Czar, begging him as a personal favor, to cease hostilities, and the Porte at once acquiesced—an unexpected circumstance which reveals an entente perilous for the present political course of Europe. An alliance between Turk and Russian is not without precedent. Away in the thirties—the most dangerous period in the history of the Ottoman Empire, at a moment when the victorious Greek overthrew the Turkish yoke, and the unruly Mehemet Ali routed his sovereign at Koniah,—an achievement that left Constantinople defenceless—that wonderful man, Czar Nicholas, offered his assistance, which was accepted, and a Russian army encamped on the heights of Stamboul. This was followed by a treaty, which opened the Bosphorus to the Moscovite and closed the Dardanelles to all the other powers.

We are, perhaps, on the eve of witnessing another alliance between the Turk and the Russian, which, after all, would be only another link in the chain of well sustained policy with which Russia seeks, slowly, steadily, silently, to bind the East to her triumphal chariot. If we wish to obtain an insight into the advantages which would accrue to Russia from an alliance with the Porte, we should bear in mind that the covetous eye of the Muscovite is always fixed on India, and that an Indian agitation could at any moment be provoked by a Mohamedan revolt. Were the Sultan to-morrow to be made sure of his footing in Europe and hopeful of aggrandisement, he would have but scant hesitation in playing into the hands of the Russian at the required moment by stirring up Mohamedan fanaticism and declaring a holy war. Although not a consummation to be wished, it is certainly a consummation to be feared.

So much for prospects of complications. For the moment the victory of the maligned and turbaned Turk over the unruly and sentimental Greek is a happy denouement. Logical though unexpected and even undesired by the unthinking many as well as by the thinking few who occupy the summits of political power, the Ottoman triumph precludes the scramble and the conflagration which would inevitably have followed the much-wished-for discomfiture of Edhem Pasha, and postpones that dismemberment which seems to be the one aim of European diplomacy and intrigue.

Events have combined with the natural qualities of the Turk to arrest for a moment that decline which the indolence and corruption of the Sultans began centuries ago. If we turn to the pages of history, we find that towards the middle of the 17th century the Ottoman Empire reached its apogee. It was a powerful state firmly seated on both shores of the Bosphorus, commanding the Black, Aegean and Ionian seas, possessing immense territories in three continents, and boasting a population of 40 millions from the banks of the Leitha to the confines of Sahara, the frontiers of Persia and the Caucasian Mountains. The until then victorious scimitar flashed under the walls of Vienna. It was the Turk's last effort at conquest. It was his first defeat, and since then the vast empire has been going to pieces, pursued by racial hatred and unworthy resentment. Defeated by Sobieski, routed by the Duke of Lorraine, driven back by Prince Eugene, the Turks were compelled in 1699 to sign the Peace of Carlowitz, relinquishing in favor of Austria their possessions in Hungary and ceding the port of Azof to Russia, which then for the first time appeared in the arena of European politics to join the fight of Christianity against Islam. Then came fresh wars and fresh defeats, followed by fresh treaties, lightening the Ottoman frontiers, chiefly to the advantage of the Muscovite. Then in 1829, the Czar Nicholas by the treaty of Adrianople forced the Porte to recognise the autonomy of Walachia and Moldavia. Rebellion next seized upon the unfortunate empire. Greece overthrew the yoke, and the famous Mehemet-Ali almost succeeded in destroying the throne of the Sultans. The Crimean War upset the influence of Russia, and England placed herself at the head of the Sick Man's bed. In 1876, the insurrection in Bosnia shook the Sublime Gate. Then came the war with Russia and the San Stefano Treaty, followed by the Berlin Congress which compelled the Russian Bear to disgorge. Bosnia and Herzegovina were handed over to Austria. England took Cyprus. But these are events of our own time. They are fresh in the memory of all, and if we mention them it is only to suggest what would have occurred had Prince Constantine driven back the Turks into Macedonia and defeated Edhem Pasha.

THE QUEEN'S REIGN.

III.—SHIPPING.

There is no item of national greatness which shows such relative progress as our carrying trade on the high seas; it has grown as follows:—

Tons Register

Year	Sail	Steam	Total	Carrying Power	Tons per 1000 Pop.
1840..	2,480,000	90,000	2,570,000	2,840,000	108
1870..	4,380,000	1,110,000	5,690,000	9,02.,000	288
1895..	2,870,000	6,120,000	8,990,000	27,350,000	701

The increase of carrying power has been, of course, much greater than that of nominal tonnage, since each ton of steam shipping is reckoned equivalent to four tons of sailing vessels. The transition that has taken place in our carrying trade in the last twenty-five years is marvellous, for we find that in 1870 not quite half the business was done by steamers, whereas in 1895 steamers represented 88 per cent. of the traffic, sailing vessels only 12 per cent. Moreover, the substitution of steam for sails has greatly increased the efficiency of our seamen, viz:—

Year	Seamen	Carrying Power	Tons per Man
1840....	140,000	2,840,000	200
1870....	196,000	9,020,000	460
1895....	240,000	27,350,000	1,140

Thus it appears that two seamen can now do as much in carrying as five could in 1870 or twelve in 1840. That is to say, we should require 600,000 sailors to do our present trade at the rate of efficiency in 1870; and as there is an actual saving of 60 per cent, this involves a considerable reduction in freight charges, to the benefit of all nations. In 1892 more than half the carrying trade of the seas was done by British vessels, the tonnage of port entries showing as follows:—

Parts of	British	Various	Total
U. Kingdom.....	27,040,000	10,630,000	37,670,000
British Colonies.	30,240,000	9,410,000	39,620,000
United States...	9,820,000	8,360,000	18,180,000
Other countries..	48,280,000	76,440,000	124,720,000
Total.....	115,350,000	104,840,000	220,190,000

At present we hold about 52 per cent of the maritime carrying trade of the world, whereas in 1840 our share was only 27 per cent. This is, of course, irrespective of Colonial shipping; between British and Colonial we might claim about 60 per cent of the total.

IV.—RAILWAYS.

When the Queen ascended the throne there were but five short railways in the United Kingdom, making up in all 110 miles. The line from London to Birmingham was opened in 1838, and from that time railway construction progressed rapidly. The total paid-up capital in railways in 1870 reached 530 millions, and in December 1895 no less than 1001 millions sterling, while the market value of the stock in the latter year exceeded 1500 millions. If we compare the paid-up capital with population in the three kingdoms, we find as follows:—

	£ Sterling	Population	£ per Head
England.....	825,200,000	30,600,000	27·0
Scotland.....	136,600,000	4,170,000	32·7
Ireland.....	39,300,000	4,560,000	8·6
U. Kingdom...	1,001,100,000	38,330,000	25·4

It is to be regretted that a much larger sum has not been invested in the construction of railways in Ireland, the above table showing that Scotland has 13¼ per cent, Ireland less than 4 per cent of the total.

Taking merely the island of Great Britain, we find that its mileage of railways is very high in proportion to area, but not to population:—

	Miles open (1895)	Miles per Million Acres	Miles per Million Inhabts.
Great Britain....	18,000	310	510
France.....	24,070	122	650
Germany.....	27,850	210	530
Russia.....	23,100	18	220
United States...	180,000	93	2,550
Canada.....	16,000	8	3,100
Australia.....	13,820	7	3,280

Compared with population the railways of Great Britain do not seem to provide sufficient accommodation; to be on a par with France in this respect we require in this island (irrespective of Ireland) at least 5000 miles more than at present. So tremendous, however, is the power yielded by the principal railway companies of England, that the national interests are completely at their mercy; they have, moreover, strengthened their monopoly by getting possession of the principal canals.

A SAD CASE.

APPEAL TO OUR COUNTRYMEN.

On the 10th February last the Irish stevedore Molloy was foully murdered in the Boca, and the particulars of the dastardly crime were published in our columns at the time. Deceased left a young widow, an Irishwoman and a Catholic, with three children, aged 6, 5, and 2 years respectively.

Thrown on the wide world by the murder of her husband, who was her only support, left in an interesting condition and expecting shortly another child, the distressed widow has sought relief from pillar to post. She expected some assistance from the many British charitable institutions in our midst, and she was not altogether disappointed, for the poor, impecunious British and American Benevolent Society gave her a few dollars to keep the wolf from the door. She appealed to the devoted clergymen of her creed and enlisted their good services to endeavour to place her two little boys aged 6 and 5 in the Irish Orphanage or the Boy's Orphanage: but these good offices were of no avail, for one boy was too old, or the other too young, or the orphanage was full, or the new building was not yet ready—moral, the two children could not be accommodated.

Protestant clergymen also took up her case, but the Protestant Orphanage in Quilmes was also full.

In other words, the widow of this murdered man is in the street, and our charitable institutions are not equal to the task of affording the relief required. The poor woman has knocked at our doors and we extend all our sympathy to her and her little ones, all blasted by the knife of the ruthless assassin.

It is seldom that we make an appeal of this kind, but we earnestly implore our generous readers to come forward and contribute something, that the poor woman may tide over her confinement and have breathing time to place at least two of her little boys—bright little fellows—in some orphanage or with some kindly disposed people. To think that this public appeal must be made when we hear of the sale of valuable orphanage sites, the purchase of others, the fine plans of new orphanages, and of charitable subscriptions of $5,000 per donor, shows that the management of our charitable institutions is at fault. We do not wish to be hard, but all can see the sarcasm of this distressful case contrasted with the above.

All contributions will be received in this office and handed to the widow Molloy according to her wants until she is over her trial and places her children in some charitable institution—we have no doubt that the contributions will come in until some orphanage takes up the two boys of the unfortunate, murdered Irishman.

LATEST FROM THE WEST COAST

IN HONOUR OF BRAZIL.

GRAND MANIFESTATION OF FRIENDSHIP.

(From the Chilian Times.)

The public manifestation by the inhabitants of Valparaiso on Sunday last in honour of Brazil was a thorough success and altogether worthy of the city. In Prat-street there was a grand display of flags and ever-greens, especially in front of the offices of the daily papers and the residence of the Brazilian Consul. About two o'clock those who intended to take part in the procession assembled in the Gran Avenida, the work of marshalling the societies being watched with interest by thousands of people. Shortly after three o'clock the procession was put in motion, headed by the Orfeon Band. The route was along Blanco street to Sotomayor-square, thence along Prat-street, Esmeralda-street, Condell-street to Victoria-square. The procession comprised about sixty different clubs, friendly societies, and schools, each bearing its distinguishing banner, while the flags of Chile and Brazil were to be seen in hundreds; Mottoes were also very prominent and profuse, "Viva el Brazil!" and "Viva Chile!" being the favourites. With those in the procession marching four, five, and some even as many as ten abreast, it took exactly forty minutes to pass a given point, men and boys showing a stream extending from the Gran Avenida along Blanco-street, round Sotomayor-square, along Prat-street- Esmeralda-street to Anibal Pinto-square. Thousands of people lined both sides of the streets watching the grand display of national brotherly feeling; while windows and balconies were much in request, especially by ladies. From one end of Prat-street to the other there was a closely-packed moving mass. In front of the Brazilian Consul's office great cheering took place as the crowds filed past. Here a number of appropriate speeches were delivered, the bands played the Chilian and Brazilian national anthems, while the thousands again and again broke forth in loud "vivas" for the two Republics. During the procession many societies presented the Brazilian Consul (Colonel Ernesto Pereira da Silva) with their banners, each ceremony being accompanied with much interest and enthusiasm. It was nearly half-past five before the day's proceedings were over, when the crowds dispersed in the best of spirits.

It the evening there was a grand display of fireworks in the Gran Avenida in presence of an immense concourse of people, the night being dark and very suitable for a pyrotechnical display. Amongst the set pieces was one bearing the following inscription:—"Valparaiso a la noble nacion Brazilera—Gratitud y fraternidad".

A special entertainment was held afterwards in the Victoria Theatre, when there were delivered several speeches and an ode in honour of Brazil.

At two o'clock on the morning of Saturday last a violent and prolonged earthquake occurred at Lima, the duration of the shock being about one minute. The alarm in the city was great, thousands of people jumping out of their beds and rushing to the streets and squares, the greater number only partially dressed. Many people passed the rest of the morning on the watch. The violent movement of the ground passed without causing any disaster of any importance either in the city or surrounding district.

We understand our Argentine friends have every intention of giving H. M. S. Pinafore during their Jubilee celebration. A telegram has been received here enquiring if copies of the vocal score can be loaned them for the occasion the, band parts not being required. We have been asked to state that should any ladies or gentlemen who have copies of the vocal score of Pinafore be willing to lend them it will be a favour their handing them in at the earliest possible moment to the Chilian Times Office, addressed to Mr. R. H. Re... Each copy should bear its owner's name.

THE BLANCO REVOLUUION.

The following special telegram was received yesterday by our colleague La Nacion from its war correspondent in Uruguay:—

Bagé, May 18th 9 p.m.

I was advised in Rio Grande of the encounter between Aparicio and General Villar, and I came here, where I am staying with Antonio Mena, wounded in the fight. Mena tells me that the battle began at 11 a.m. on the 14th inst, the rebel forces encountering Escobar's vanguard, 2000 strong. The fight ceased at nightfall that day to begin again on the 15th, lasting until mid-night. The battle was again renewed at day-light on the 16th inst. and lasted until the afternoon of the same day. It is asserted that Aparicio to-day pursuing Villar's forces. The fights began in Arroyo Blanco, between Jaguay and Caraguatá, 22 leagues from Bage. Julio Barros, a revolutionist opened the fight by attacking Escobar's vanguard with 600 lancers.

Aparicio continued marching towards Rivera, fighting every day until yesterday. He ran short of ammunition, but received three hundred thousand round from Marquez on the 16th inst.

Colonels Jara and Gabino and Mr. Martin Arozteguí were killed.

Colonel Lamas and Aparicio's aide-de-camp, Ponce de Leon were slightly wounded.

The exact number of killed and wounded is not known, but is heavier than in previous encounters.

A waggon with wounded soldiers is expected here to-night.

News arrived this afternoon announcing that Colonel Escobar had died from the effects of his wounds.

He was in Brazilian territory at the time of his death.

Later.—Aparicio and Colonel Lamas continue marching towards Rivera.

A considerable number of rebels have entered Brazil. Escobar's death is not confirmed. General opinion is against the revolution.

TRISTEZA.

(By A. M. Bourne.)

To the Editor of the STANDARD,

Dear Sir,

In view of the many and wonderful theories, re tristeza, grano malo and mancha, which have during the past month so plentifully appeared in the different periodicals published in Buenos Aires, I should like, if you will allow me, the space in your columns to state what I myself have been able to ascertain about them, through what I believe to be the best possible means, namely, experience—and I will also ask you to allow any practical "estanciero" who may wish to do so, either to corroborate or contradict my assertions. With theorists I cannot argue, as I have never had any means of studying microbes or bacilli, but what I wish to deal with are facts, hard and practical.

To begin, tristeza, red murrain, red water and Texas fever are one and the same thing and have nothing in common with either of the other diseases which I have named above (grano malo and mancha). Tristeza attacks only the internal organs of an animal; grano malo and mancha on the other hand affect only the muscles and flesh on the outside of the carcase.

In an animal that has died of tristeza you will find the spleen greatly enlarged, the liver swollen and with yellow streaks and blotches in it, the intestines in many cases perforated and with the half-chewed food oozing out through them, the kidneys reduced to a mere mass of blood so soft that you can squeeze them through your fingers, and the bladder full of bloody urine.

How then can anyone say that this is identical with grano malo, which always attacks an animal on the shoulder and leaves all the interior parts in a healthy state?

Theorists I believe, argue that ticks and Texas fever or 'tristeza' as I prefer to call it, are consequences one of the other here, I can prove them to be wrong, for 'tristeza' first made its appearance in Santa Fé in '75, and no one ever saw a tick on a beast until the summer of '88. That ticks may help to propagate the disease by inoculation is quite probable, but that they are a part of it or in any way a necessary adjunct of it is utterly untrue.

Many cases have been known of ticks without 'tristeza' and vice versa. But very likely the reason why ticks have been supposed to have some connection with 'tristeza' is that the same cause is an active agent in the production of them both. Any very old dirty camp, camp that has not been burnt for many years, and where at the bottom of the tussucks there is a quantity of mouldy decayed grass, this is the place to breed both ticks and 'tristeza.' In the year of '87 I was managing an estancia belonging to Mr. Kemmis, close to Las Turbias, which belonged to the late Mr Palmer Smythies, and used to ride over there every Saturday evening when he was at home for a shoot on Sunday; there was a wide cañada to the North of his house with a dirty little stream running through it, fringed with old, dirty esparto grass, excellent cover for martinettas, and for this reason he never would have it burned, but after an afternoon's shooting our dog were literally covered with ticks, well, it was in that very camp that the tick pest started. I heard that the cattle were suffering badly from ticks and went to see, as for ticks to attack cattle was at that time somewhat of a novelty. Many cattle had died when first I saw them, but at that time "there was no tristeza". The ticks travelled with so great a rapidity that in less than a month they were at Don Tomas Armstrong's Estancia Santo Tomas managed by Mr. Tom O'Laughlan and J. Gandoli. Here in less than two months they cleared out upwards of eleven thousand head. Many others suffered heavily at the same time, one or two I could name losing 30% of the whole herd. Ticks can be got rid of in only one way so far as I know, namely by dissolving sulphur with quick lime in water and putting it into the troughs where the animals drink. The smell of the sulphur comes out almost at once on the animal's hide and causes the ticks to drop off, and so long as the animals are kept dosed with this mixture no others will come o the beast. Mr. Taylor the U. S. Vet. Surgeon for the State of Texas, knew that sulphur would produce this effect but could not find a way to apply it. He tried mixing it with coarse salt and putting it about in troughs for the animals to lick; but according to his subseqnent report it proved only partially successful, and it could not well be otherwise if we come to consider that only perhaps 50 % of the whole herd would take the salt, the remainder would do without it. But this partial cure shews that if the whole herd had taken the salt and sulphur the probability is that the whole herd would have been greatly benefited if not cured. Mr Miguel Leckler writing recently (in the Capital of Rosario I believe) says that "tristeza" has no microbes; for my part I believe him to be wrong, but at the same time I disagree entirely with those who agree that the Tristeza and Carbuncle microbe from one and the same. To my mind carbuncle and tristeza are as different hour one another in animals as typhus fever and consumption are in human beings. But apart from all this, how is it that, now that the real microbe is supposed to have been discovered, no one has as yet been able to apply a satisfactory remedy? This is not a new disease with which we have to deal by any means, we have had it amongst us for more than 22 years to my knowledge, neither is bactereology a new science, but still thousands die of it here every year, and last year they died like rotten sheep in Australia.

It may be interesting to some of your readers, and at the same time probably useful to know how I and another saved two valuable imported bulls. It was in the year 83, and I was on an estancia in Santa Fe, the disease was terrible: we had skinned upwards of 1000 animals, and at last these two bulls which were in a small paddock close to the house fell ill. We had already tried very remedy we knew or our books or neighbours could recommend. The bulls lay down in their loose boxes and refused every kind of food and it soon became apparent that unless something were done and that quickly they both must die. It was the first time we had had to do with really tame animals, and as we examined them carefully, passing our hands over their bodies, we were at once struck by the intense heat just over the spot where their kidneys lay: besides, as we pressed on that particular spot both bulls would toss their heads back as though to horn us, thereby plainly indicating that pressure there hurt them. That then seemed to us to be the root of the evil and to allay the inflamation and sooth the pain the first thing to be done. The way we set about it was this: with a pair of horse clippers we cut the hair off their backs, as near as we could judge by the heat, over their kidneys, and then poured on pure turpentine, rubbing it gently in: next we made two large mustard poultices a foot wide by two feet long, and laid them over the places from which we had removed the hair. To our surprise and joy in less than half an hour both bulls were on their feet, and both decidedly better. All that day they were to all appearances much relieved, though both of them passed quarts of blood-coloured urine. Do what we would, we could get neither of them to eat, and that evening they both lay down again, and it now seemed that although they were so much better they must give out through sheer exhaustion. We boiled a lot of linseed in a copper and gave them about three quarts each of that, and next morning repeated the dose, but giving them as well (through a horn) about half a bucket of new milk. The second day their urne was quite clear, and we gave them four doses each of boiled linseed and water, and the milk as well. In less than a week they ate green alfalfa and both got well, though I heard after that they both died of tristeza about two years later. I believe this remedy if applied to tame animals would in the generality of cases have a most beneficial effect, at any rate it is well worth trying.

Col. Pedro Gordillo, Commander of the Cordoba Brigade, arrived here yesterday on a short visit. We feel much pleasure in welcoming our gallant friend, who looks as young as a Lieutenant, though he has all the experience of a General.

THE INDIA RUBBER EXPEDITION.

Iquique, Chile
April 27th 1897.

Dear STANDARD:

This note from the sea is written on board the Pacific S. N. Co's s.s. Peru, off Iquique, Chile, en route for Montevideo, and is to advise STANDARD friends who were so kindly interested in our Rubber Expedition that we are getting there.

It is some satisfaction to be able to say that so far I have followed exactly the itinerary laid down before starting, and perhaps I may express the hope that my good luck will continue to the end with the return trip. You heard from me last at Mendoza, where we arranged for mules from that point to Los Andes, Chile.

It may interest those who may desire to follow in our trail to say that mules may be had for this journey from Mendoza for $15 each, Argentine money, while the expense of living during the five days is regulated by the appetite, and need not cost over $1 per day. The Railway fare, third class to the end of the tracks at Puente La Vaca, a ride of five hours, is over $14, while 1st class it is $32, involving an expensive ride in the combination, as well as a night's stop at Las Cuevas for which $6 is charged for each person. In a word the cost of the R. R. and combination journey exceeds $100, against $20, while the time of the mules is in inverse ratio, that is, if one starts the same day with the train he will reach Valparaiso as soon as those who come by the next train, as they are run on alternate days, and are quite uncertain at this season.

If one is travelling for pleasure, time being no object, and desires to see the real bareness of the country, the mule is preferable to the "narrow gauge" R. R. I have written up the story for my American papers on this line, which you may perhaps find in your exchanges, with diagrams, by way of proof, in the form of snap shot photos as suggestion for illustration which will amuse, if it does not entertain, you.

One of the points that I shall foster is that Argentina as far as Villa Mercedes offers a fine field for immigration of that class who have some capital, with energy and enterprise. I call the attention of our young army of able men who are hunting new worlds to conquer that the five hundred miles between the tracks of Mr. Huxtable's road offers the finest path for good wheelmen that I know of. Being an old cyclist and accompanied by 'Ready', who has a crack record at home, we regretted very much that we were not on wheels, instead of in first class coaches.

The fact of there being no obstruction in the way of sleepers, or as the English call the crossties is important. The iron rods that connect the inverted scrops shovel to which rails are attached being buried under the earth, makes a level surface with slight grades and but few bridges.

The game along the route, previously mentioned, would offer sufficient inducement as well as food for quite a party of proprietors on wheels.

The moral is that mules are competitors for your Roads over the mountains, and we have no doubt but that wheels would deprive your Pampas Rails of a great deal of first class passenger travel.

In connection with Railways in Argentina, I call attention to the fact that the immense waste of water power in the valleys over the Andes from Mendoza to the cumbre could be utilized to establish electric plants that would guarantee sufficient power to run a first class railway right across these mountains. My observation was that the "Camino" on which we rode for several days was of such moderate grade that an electric surface road could easily be worked on it, at a trifling cost, as compared with the heavy narrow gauge, three rail system, that can only be used when the weather is good. The Argentine Government or perhaps the State or Province of Mendoza have expended very considerable money in the construction of a good "Camino" or trail. This evidences superior engineering ability in locating to that of the English tracks, which are laid in close to the hills, that the constant drift, or slides must ever be a great expense in maintenance. It is said this "Camino" was constructed for cattle driving from San Juan and Mendoza. As there is absolutely no pasture along the entire route the drive results in the exhaustion of a large percentage of the herds. The Road was literally strewn with bones of thousands of cattle that have perished in this barren mountain trail. In our country, cattle or stock are never driven to the westward, but rather from the West to the East. But it appears that the Chilians demand your beef. It occurred also to the writer that the enormous waste of water power all along the road might readily be again utilized to establish refrigerating plants, where in connection with such large establishments as we have in Chicago, Kansas, the thousands of cattle might be slaughtered and shipped in a frozen condition to run over the Andes by electric service. There is no doubt but that an electric road can be profitably operated where the mules can drag cumbersome coaches at a wild gallop the entire route, or even over the Cumbre.

At Puente del Inca the hospitalities were courteously extended by Dr. Cotton and his genial managar, Mr Simmons, which the tired and dusty travellers so gratefully appreciated after three days' ride. After a refreshing bathe in the hot springs, the writer was ready to exclaim "Eureka," and declare that I had at last found the fabled "Fountain of Youth," sought in vain in my country by Prince de Leon. The STANDARD readers know of Puente del Inca, but I doubt if the benefit to be derived from the waters there is properly appreciated in Argentina. In many respects the curative properties resemble the famous hot springs of Arkansas, renowned the world over, and visited by the afflicted of all lands.

Comparisons are odious, but in another respect this famed bridge has its resemblance in America in the Natural Bridge of Virginia, which is however formed by rocks over a ravine. The Inca bridge has a tradition of course: the rushing picturesque water beneath, as well as the resort wonderful hot "baños" which no other obtains.

Puente del Inca has, in addition, this advantage over every other resort, it is located in the very heart of the mighty Andes, over 9000 feet above the sea, where the air must necessarily be dry and pure. The barren mountain scene is wonderful in the blending of beautiful colouring that in its effect, quite resembles Bierstadt's paintings of the Yosemite and Yellow Stone.

The artist in water colours will here find some wonderful effects in "terra cotta" combined with greys and yellows. The sanatorium being located midway between two of the highest peaks in the world, Aconcagua and Tupungata, only a few hours distant, becomes the resort for those ambitious young men of the Alpine Clubs, whose only object in life is to climb to the summit of some peak to get their names in the papers.

The Fitzgerald party who have employed a celebrated Swiss climber with an unpardonable name to do their real climbing at a large salary, is encamped near the Inca bridge.

During our visit Dr. Vine, the geologist of this party, succeeded in "conquering Tupungato" with the assistance of the Swiss rope climber. As they are under obligations to report exclusively to the London Chronicle, perhaps the STANDARD had better not print these scraps.....

We started on our ascent of the "cumbre" at midday from the Inca. I preferred a mule to do my climbing, and am glad to say we got over it safely before the cold winds or darkness came upon us. It's one of those experiences where one is twice glad: when you are up and when you are down.

I have been as high as three miles above the earth on a mule before, so was not effected by the "puna" or "louche." But one of our party, whom we called the "señorita", because of an effeminate appearance, was the first to give way. The attitude of 10,000 feet caused bleeding of the nose and a general collapse that was somewhat anxious in view of the fact that this same "señorita" affected the broad hat, top boots, pistol and swagger of the Buffalo Bill style, and was inclined to boast of his prowess. The elevation had quite a different effect on "Ready", who had never been on a mule before this trip, but soon learned to climb on the mule's neck, when making a sudden ascent, or to grab the tail when the mule would take a slide of 41 feet down a steep grade.

Our "arreiro" also became exhilirated from an overdose of precaution against cold, which Dr. Cotton had prescribed for the man. This episode came very nearly being disastrous to our entire party as the "arreiro" became so obstreperous that we had to gallop about to avoid any entangling alliances. We reached "Los Andes" long after night, but not too tired to enjoy a stroll in the park or "plaza", where we were refreshed by a hot cup of coffee served by a pretty "señorita".

On account of the weakness resulting from ill health, and the brief exposure from mule climbing we considered it advisable to leave the "Señorita" of our party at Valparaiso to go home by steamer.

"Ready" and myself expect to reach Mollendo, Perú, on Thursday of this week, and will go at once to Lake Titicaca to encamp until ready to make the long planned return journey down the Amazon, from the ancient city of the "Sun Temples", Cuzco. As you may know Cuzco means Navel or the centre of life, corresponding to the Inca tradition that the human race orignated at this point nearest the centre of the Earth, and at its highest point near the Equator, the sun being the father, and the moon the mother of the Inca. From a former experience in Equatorial America, I am somewhat inclined to accept the theory that on the luxuriant altitude of the Equator was located Paradise or the original Garden of Eden. I found plenty of ambitious Eves there in the way of "Señoritas" Indian beauties who can flirt in the Andes just as the 'Señorita' does in Buenos Aires, and get us poor guileless men into trouble. There are plenty of serpents to help the delusion.

THE LOCUST EXPEDITION

The three special Commissions appointed to explore the Chaco in order to find the breeding grounds of locusts are ready to start at the beginning of next month, leaving, Salta, Reconquista and Formosa respectively.

The first Commission, comprising Engineer Enrique Schroeder, Surveyor Luis Vasquez Argibel, and 50 troopers of the 5th Regiment of Line Cavalry will explore the Cordillera valleys and the Chaco, of Salta as far as Santiago del Estero.

The 2nd Commission comprising Military Engineer Captain Daniel Fernandez, Surveyor Francisco Fernandez, and 50 troopers of the 11th Regiment of Cavalry will explore the Central Chaco from Campo del Cielo to Oran and thence from Rivadavia to Resistencia.

The 3rd Commission comprised of Engineer Captain Ladislao Fernandez, Surveyor Jose M. Sosa, and 50 troopers of the 12th Cavalry Regiment have orders to explore the Central Chaco parallel to the River Bermejo as far as Rivadavia, thence to Reduccion, returning along the right bank of the Pilcomayo and then to Alto Paraguay. It is calculated that this expedition will last five months.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

The concert to be given by Sr. A. Napoleon in P. George's Hall to-morrow night, should attract a very large audience, not only on accounts of the exceptional abilities of Sr. Napoleon himself, but also because of the talented musicians who will assist, Sta. Graciana Duhart and Profesors F. Cattelani, T. Marenco and Luis Gorin.

The performance of La Traviata at the Victoria last night was not quite up to the standard of excellence usually shown at this theatre. The honours of the evening undoubtedly belong to Sra. Allú, who was an exceptionally good Violeta, especially in the first act where the florid music suited her voice and was well given, and the double call at the end of the act was thoroughly deserved. Sr. Maristany was only moderate as Alfredo, but was handicapped through having to sing in a strange language. The management should endeavour to shorten the intervals, half an hour between the acts trying the patience of the audience very considerably.

CONGRESS

THE DEPUTIES.

A stirring debate took place yesterday on the subject of the National Intervention in San Luis.

Dr. Quirno Costa was again present and defended in measured phrases the action of the Government in having supported Dr. Bosch's conduct of affairs, and indignantly repudiated the accusations brought against the President of having mixed himself up in party politics.

The attack on Dr. Uriburu and his Ministers was led by Deputies Lobos, Daract and Davila who spoke in very harsh terms of the First Magistrate.

On the withdrawal of the Minister for the Interior a motion was brought forward, and eventually sent to Committee, authorizing the Executive to intervene in the Province of San Luis for the purpose of guaranteeing freedom of action on the part of the Legislature of that Province.

The debate was remarkable for the unanimity of the House in condemning the attitude assumed by the President and his Cabinet on the question at issue, not a single word being spoken by any Deputy present to show that there was any diversity of the general opinion that the Government had acted throughout in an indiscreet manner.

LA PLATA.

(From our own Correspondent)

May, 19th.

The Minister of Public Works has issued a decree in reference to the highways of the province, ordering the Engineers' Department, when the road from La Plata is repaired in the part known as "Costa Sud" to take the widening of the rest of this road in hand.

The Municipality of San Vicente has been ordered to open the "tranqueras" closed without authorization on the property of the late Mr. George Bell.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

River Plate affairs were slowly on the move yesterday as usual, but they did not set our big river on fire, nor did any one die, or even get a mild fit of apoplexy, from over-excitement. Politicians perspired a little over the Valiente Puntano muddle, but that's all. All the European communities of course discussed the Greco-Turkish Armistice; and there is a conviction that the making of peace will force some of the Big Powers to show their hand. It is stated that one of them has been secretly trying for some time to break up the European concert; and the "vox populi" seems to say that Imperial and imperious William is the man most likely to know all about it.

The news from B. O. yesterday about the recent fight between Lamas and Villar was of the you'realiarandyou'reanother order. The Nacion opened the ball with rockets and a bulletin stating that Lamas had been knocked into half a dozen cocked hats. Then our new colleague the Oriental returned the fire in the same fashion, declaring that the cocked hats fitted Villar and the Government troops, but not Lamas and the patriots, who refused to wear them. Between two such diametrically opposite statements, we can only wait till our unerring correspondent Stand-by O'Gorman sets the matter right.

We hear that a concert of Scottish Song and Story will be given on the Prince George's Hall on Saturday the 29th inst., under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society of the River Plate. The programme which is all but complete promises to be a very enjoyable one.

The rain last night played "viejo Enrique" with all after-dark diversions. Most fortunately, it did not come down till all the Cinderella prancers were under the roof of Prince George's Hall.

Now, all ye patriotic Britishers, male and female, who are going to delight us in "Pinafore", please remember that there is a rehearsal to-night in the Beranger Hall.

The Naval Club has a sociable racket on hand to-night, and has invited the officers of the British, Italian and Spanish war-ships now in port—the Acorn, Umbria and Temerario—to the "fiesta".

That tip-top "restaurateur" Georges Mercer is having his ground flour dinning rooms repaired, so his customers will have to dine nearer heaven by one storey till the work is finished.

We refer in our leading columns to the sad case of Mrs. Molloy. Of all our charitable institutions, the British and American Benevolent Society is the only one that has listened to her cry of distress. It is a bitter reflection on our English-speaking charitable institutions, and we hope that our appeal to private benevolence on behalf of a widow and children in such a truly touching position will supply the manifest defects in our public institutions that make such a case possible.

So General Lavalle is again to be our Minister of War; the decree was issued last night and that gallant old officer will at 3 this afternoon take the customary oath.

The first Cinderella Dance of the season last night in Prince George's Hall, was a success that augurs well for those that have to come, and will be eagerly looked forward to. The work of the Committee this year has been of no light character, and they have passed through the ordeal with flying colours. The floral decorations of the Hall made the place appear like fairy-land, all the bare spaces between the supports being filled with trailing plants that had the prettiest effect; whilst the entrance hall and the gallery were filled with palms and other trees, amidst all of which the electric light shone most effectively. The floor had been most carefully attended to, and dancing to the enlivening strains of Furlotti's band was carried on most virogously until long after the hours usually allotted to a Cinderella. The Albion Club provided the supper as usual, and in saying this, no word of praise is needed. A list of the names would absorb too much of our limited space; but we may say that last year's list of beauties was supplemented with some charming "debutantes".

The STANDARD Cerberus, Bill Sykes, the most intelligent bulldog ever born, has now taken to larking. We generally give him his bath ourself every morning; but, a few days ago, being busy, ordered a servant to act as our "locum tenens" at the operation. Bill has a horror of soap and cold water; so he followed the servant reluctantly, but with rather a knowing look in his starboard eye. In about five minutes he returned to us shaking himself vigorously, as dogs do when they emerge from water, to dry themselves. One glance at him was enough to shew us that he was as dry as a bone, and had not had his bath, and the shaking and shivering was merely meant to make us think that he had just come out of it. If this be not canine cuteness, we know not what is. We marched him back to the bath.

In a letter to one of his children, Guizot tells how, on his first visit to Windsor, he lost his way and opened a wrong door, and beheld for a moment a lady having her hair brushed. The next day the Queen (for it was she) joked him about it, and he says: "I ended by asking her leave, if ever I wrote my memoirs, like Sully or St. Simon, to mention how, at midnight, I opened the door of the Queen of England. She laughingly gave me the desired permission."

More papers, but no news, we suppose, from "el viejo Panama!" Let us open them and see. (Interval of ten minutes for refreshment of tea and cakes.) Just as we expected. No news whatever.

Has any Diamond Jubilee plate turned up here yet? At home now all the silversmiths are beginning to make souvenir silver to commemorate the celebration. Spoons and forks already put out have handles decorated with the Queen's head in medallion, the royal arms and monogram, and the dates 1837-1897 along the length towards the bowl.

Ladies. The next time you pass along Calle Maipu (STANDARD block) we advise you to stop at Mr. Anderson's sewing machine emporium and have a look at the beautiful picture in the window. You will like it.

Oh! This is downright shocking, except for a Turk, Dr. Grenier, the French convert to Islam, and now a member of the French Parliament, has his little say with regard to the decline of the population of France. He advocates polygamy to mitigate the evil. If men who are able and willing to support more than one spouse were allowed to do so, he thinks there would be fewer old maids, more happy mothers, and a large number of children in France.

It is stated that the health of President Kruger is once more causing considerable anxiety to his friends. The President suffers from dropsy, the symptoms of which have recently become alarming. Mr. Kruger, it is said, has taken great interest in the progress of the South Africa inquiry, and has expressed the strongest disapproval of the attitude of Mr. Chamberlain towards Mr. Schreiner.

There is evidently something wrong with the true inwardness of the famous European concert, Lord Salisbury made a very significant speech at the Junior Constitutional Club on Tuesday night, as if to prepare the British public for the coming change. Amongst other things, the bulky lord of Hatfield said "Neither Turkey nor Greece should deceive itself as regards public feeling in the United Kingdom, as nobody knows when either or both may not require help in the solution of serious problems that can no longer be postponed. Europe cannot on any account allow any more Christian people to fall under the Sultan's rule: but this does not mean that Greece is to count on impunity for her hasty and unjust actions. The hundred members of the House of Commons who sent a message to Greece, offering their support, are mainly responsible for the war, through the false hopes they raised." Another significant fact is that the Sultan yielded the armistice solely to the Czar, not to the united Powers: and the German Ambassador absolutely refused to sign their joint note asking for it, until he received orders to do so from Berlin; which subsequently came. There is evidently something up.

We feel much pleasure in welcoming back from the Far South our old friend Mr. Lewis Jones of the Chubut Colony. He ran down in the Villarino and ran back in the Santa Cruz, and has been absent about 18 days.

We have to thank Messrs. Jacobsen and Co. for another batch of Macmillian's excellent Magazines, the Century Ilustrated, the St. Nicholas Illustrated (for young folks) and Macmillan's. There are no better magazines than these published for family reading, and they form a complete library on all questions of ordinary interest, combined with fiction of a high class. We strongly recommend them to our readers.

The English correspondents at the seat of war describe Edem Pasha as a wonderfully cool commander, very much like the Iron Duke of Wellington. Edem sits on the ground Turkwise, with crossed legs, well forward in the line of battle, smoking his chibouk as he watches the fight, preserving as utterly impassible a face as if he were in his own house. When asked by one of the correspondents why he exposed himself so much, he replied "Because while I am here my soldiers will never retreat and leave me to be caught by the enemy."

When the Empress Frederick went to Prussia after her marriage to the Crown Prince of Prussia, she was exceedinly happy to fiud at Babelsberg, which was given as a residence to her husband, a room the exact counterpart of her former room at Windsor Castle. Everything, even to the pictures on the wall, was copied exactly. Princess Maud was in a like way surprised by her husband. A room in her new residence is fitted up exactly like the room she last occupied at Sandringham She felt very happy at the surprise, and all the souvenirs of her girlhood in England have found a place in the room. She also took with her from England her three pet dogs, one of which is always in her presence.

The court martial has sentenced Lieutenant Meroño to six months' imprisonment for losing the Santa Fé. In his defence the prisoner stated that the whole torpedo division is very badly supplied with necessary elements. The Santa Fe had not even the necessary instruments for correcting the compasses!! This is another pretty how-do-you-do.

Kaiser William has got another warning from his faithful Reichstag to draw it mild in his belief in the "divine right of kings to govern wrong". A bill to enable the Government to exercise direct vigilance over private associations was thrown out by the smashing majority of 207 votes to 53. In a splendid speech Herr Richter declared that the German People would never tolerate the autocratic maxim. "The king's will is law," and this was what the Government was trying to impose on the country. Now Imperial William, be careful, like a sensible man.

Hello! A noble Don when he takes to the stage for a profession must leave his titles behind him. So says the Spanish Council of State. Don Fernando Diaz de Mendoza, Count of Lalaing, Grandee of Spain, son of the Count of Balazote, Marquis of Fontanar, brother of the Countess San Luis, and brother-in-law of the Duchess de la Torre, has become a professional actor, having become successful as an amateur. The Council of State has refused to allow him to use his name and titles in his profession.

"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12th

"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL."

FIRST RING..... 198.50
SECOND RING..... 198.20

There was a good deal of skirmishing but no hard fighting on the Rubicon to day, and gold rolled steadily back. This on the surface would seem to point to a general amelioration; unfortunately it is not so in fact. We are likely to see a much "harder" winter than was expected even by the pessimists, as things are to a certain extent driving on to a crucial point in commerce, the atmosphere being heavy with the most unsavoury rumours of difficulties, suspensions, and failures. Naturally as in all such cases, there is a deal of exaggeration. If we were to place any reliance on what is said, the absurd rumours afloat, hap-hazard inquiries, significant head shakes and other silly demonstrations of the kind—if any reliance or importance could be attached thereto, we might begin chanting the "De Profundis" over the most commercial city South of the Equator, as not a house, big or little, retail or wholesale, is, so they would make it out, afoot. This is not exaggeration. Nothing is spoken of but failures and more failures. Even the ring has become contaminated and begins to lend a grudging belief to the tale of woe, and it is high time common sense be brought into play. That things are bad there is no gainsaying, but the entire commerce of such a city as this is not going to give in at the first squeeze, nor is there anything but common talk and idle rumour to go upon. It is not a healthy sign certainly to see gold falling when in the natural course of events it should be going the other way, especially with exchange down and promising to keep so. But after all, this abnormal movement in gold is very easily explained by the houses holding over on their remittances and thus lessening the demand. It is not a good sign, but there is nothing alarming about it either. Thus the situation stands, however, and we are in for a trying quarter, till the crop prospects, marvellous growth of the country and magical development and expansion of its resources begin to tell. Then the outlook will begin to brighten and the clouds to lift, revealing a "vista" of the sunny future stretching out beyond when the usually crucial time of the Presidential election is over and General Roca again invested with the insignia of Chief Magistrate, which will mean the definite consolidation of peace and credit. T'is only the present that has its terrors, and they are not so frightful, when all is said and done.

What is more menacing than all in the situation is the apprehension that the general depression may be made a lever to bring the printing press into action again as a last resource, the heroic remedy, as it will be falsely dubbed, to put things to right again. The heroic remsdy is really to abstain from any recourse to the financial morphine, and to let sugar, agriculture and commerce work out of the morass as best they can. An emission would undoubtedly alleviate the situation momentarily, but to save a limb the whole organism would be poisoned, and surely it were better far that the limb should suffer, even go, then that the whole country be thrown back a decade. But the danger is there, and the market is fearful of Congress being unable to resist the temptation that offers so easy an outlet. The path is a mere superficial crust covering the quagmire. Congress should know that. The Executive will hold out—but how long and how far? This is really the menace of the situation.

Business in gold at the first hour was very quiet, the total of sales barely getting within range of the ¾ million, whilst prices fell back all along the line, dropping for cash from 299 to 298 ½, and from 300 ¼ to 300 for end of June. After the hour there was still an abundance of sellers which put the price down to 298 weak. In stocks Catalinas were posted at 6.90 and 7, but there was no activity in business, and the only real feature of note is the inquiry for National Cedulas, which is sustained. Some New Italian Banks were done at 81 which shews a rise of 1 on last quetation.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

$ 219,000 cash at 299-299.20-30-50-80-50 70-50-40-30-20-299-298. 80-50-80-60-50-40-298.50.

The bill establishing the International American Bank has been introduced in the Senate, and for some reason unknown considerable opposition is cropping out against it. The first section provides that "Cornelius N. Bliss of New York, T. Jefferson Coolidge of Messachussets, Andrew Carnegie of Pennsylvania, John F. Hanson of Georgia, Charles R. Flint of New York, Enoch Pratt of Maryland, H. J. Davis of West Virginia, Phil. D. Armour of Illinois, Morris M. Estee of California, James S. Clarkson of Iowa, and Charles H. Turner of Missouri be and hereby are designated commissioners to receive subscriptions to the capital stock of a corporation to be known, etc., etc., and to exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as are by the terms of this act imposed upon them." So the much talked of North American Bank in Buenos Aires and other South American cities may at last become established, as we are informed Congressmen generally are well disposed towards the measure and see no reason for the outside opposition.

The National transport "Rio Santa Cruz," Commander A. Romero, arrived in the Darsena this morning at 8 o'clock and her mails were delivered before noon. (Bravo the P.M.G.?) She left Port Madryn on the 15th inst. Amongst her passengers we note Mr. Lewis Jones, founder of the Chubut, Mr. Oscar Schaufleur, manager of the Tres Bonetes Estate near Patagones, a number of Welsh families en route for England, Messrs. Allchurch and Russell, mining engineers, who have been on a seven months' expedition from Gallegos up to the Teca along the slopes of the Cordilleras, Mr. Richmond from Santa Cruz, school-inspector Lucerro, returning from Chubut, and a party of nine genuine Chupateers going for a "paseo" to their native Wales after 15 years successful farming, besides six young people going "home" to school. There was also the Captain and crew of the German vessel Esmeralda wrecked on Staten Island lately during a fog. A consignment of dried fish was taken on board at Cracker Bay from Admiral Solier's fishery establishment. At Chubut the piles of wheat were accumulating fast and no ships forthcoming. The Santa Cruz refused to receive 400 tons which were ready on the trucks, whilst 1,000 tons more were piled up at Trelew. Mr. Schaufleur returns from a visit to the camps in the Far South, whither he went some time ago, having started on horseback with a peon on the 2nd March from Patagones. He reached Chubut, overland, after a month's journey.

With regard to the proposal of the Province of Buenos Ayres to resume the service on its foreign debt on the basis of an issue of 35,000,000 four per cent gold bonds. (with National guarantee;) we see from our late exchanges that there seems to be at present only one banker disinclined to meet the views of the province, the loan for which he acts being a six per cent loan with 3 per cent amortization. However, it is expected, says our colleague, that this difficulty will soon be got over if the National Government back the bond, as it is expected to do, in view of the guarantee which the province considers itself in a position to offer.

The shareholders of the Montevideo Waterworks Company have had the pleasure of listening to a very favorable report and balance-sheet at the annual general meeting held in London last month. At the end of a very able speech from the Chair the following resolution was moved and adopted:— "That a further dividend of 2½ per cent, free of income-tax, making with the interim dividend paid on 1st November last 5 per cent for the year, be and is hereby declared, payable on and after 23rd April 1897." On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. William Wilson. Mr. J. H. Duncan was re-elected a director, and also on the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. W. A. Jones, Mr. Thomas Farrell was re-elected a director.

The report of the directors of the Argentine Land and Investment Company, Limited, for the year ended 31st December last, submitted at the general meeting held in London on 29th ult, states that in accordance with the special resolution for the reduction of the capital the share capital now stands at £650,000, and the liability on the ordinary shares has been reduced from £3 10s to 10s per share. The gross income for the year was £14,040, as against £16,127 for 1895, a decrease of £2,407. The expenditure was £6,888, as against £6,729, an increase of £159. The balance at credit of profit and loss was £6,132, which with the balance brought forward, £10,123, makes a total of £17,255. From this is deducted interest on debenture stocks, £2,628, and half-year's preference dividend to 30th June, 1894, $10,896. leaving a balance of £3,731. The balances due from colonists for land purchase, rent and interest, which stood last year at £36,889, have been reduced by £3,865 to £33024. The payments by colonists during the year were £2,031 for lands and £1,552 for interest less than those for the previous year, whilst rents show an increase of £204, and town sales are £91 less than in 1895. The general manager reports that the gross value of land sales during the year amounted to £8,200. Unfortunately, a succession of bad years has made it impossible in some cases for the colonists to comply with their purchase contracts, and in consequence, during the year agreements have been cancelled to the amount of £9,609. The amount of land sold and under sale contract at 31st December, deducting cancelled sales, was 555,478 acres. The balance of profit and loss sufficed to pay one half-year's arrear of preference dividend and carry forward £3,730. The amount of £10,866 distributed on the 16th November last corresponded to the half-year ending 30th June, 1894, leaving two and a half-years' accumulated dividends still in arrear.

The report of the Directors of the Central Argentine Railway Company, Limited submitted to the meeting on 30th April, shows an available balance of £136,776 and says:—

"Out of this balance the directors propose the payment of a balance dividend of 1¾ per cent., free of income-tax, on the paid-up capital of the company, making, with the interim dividend, £3 5s. per cent. for the year 1896. This will absorb £117,514 2s. 11d. and leave £19,261 19s. 11d. to be carried forward. After carrying £35,000 to reserve fund and charging against it £30,893 5s 6d in respect of the relaying of the western section, estimated cost of collision at San Antonio, and loss by fire at Rosario, as shown in account No. 6, the reserve fund has a balance to its credit of £123,187 4s 4d., as against £119,480 9s 10d on December 31st, 1895. The approximate receipts for the fourteen weeks and two days to April 10th, 1897, were £265,975, as against £292,999 for the corresponding fourteen weeks and four days of 1896, being a decrease of £57,164. The reasons for this decrease are explained in the closing remarks of the manager's report. Concessions have been obtained authorizing the construction of a branch about 55 miles in length from Pergamino to Melincue in the province of Santa Fé, and the works will be commenced as soon as the plans have been approved. The estimated cost is about £125,000, of which £50,000 is represented by materials in stock."

The New York business men's committee having charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the South American and other visiting members of the Advisory Board of the Philadelphia Commercial Museums, has arranged for them to remain in New York city and vicinity for four days instead of two, as was originally proposed. June 9th and 10th are to be devoted to New York city, June 11th an excursion will be made to Patterson, Newark and Jersey City, and Brooklyn will be visited on June 12th. On the evening of the 10th a grand banquet will be given at the Waldorf, and we presume the famous solid silver dinner service, previously described in the STANDARD will be used.

Messrs Lenguas and Co. have sold to Mr. Kingsland 200 steers at $30 gold. Mr. Clemente of Moreno has also sold 200 steers for exportation at $32 gold per head.

Mr. Herrera Vegas has sold to Mr. Puwis of Azul 6000 Lincoln wethers from his estancia in Olavarria at $4.80 per head.

The financial situation in Chile seems to be fast getting on to a climax. Things were known to be bad there ever since the Conversion, and as things point now our neighbour is evidently drifting back again on the rocks of paper issues. As we remarked at the time, it was a gallant but premature effort, and events are now carrying conviction that this was neither incorrect nor ill-natured. According to the telegrams, the Chilian Government is incubating a project allowing free emissions to the banks, subject to deposit in National Treasury of 20 % thereof in gold and 60 % in guaranteed bills. This smacks terribly of our own Free Banks of ungracious memory, but we fail to see how the Government can see its way to guarantee Conversion with the 20% deposited and another 20% which in the most fatherly way it offers to put up out of its own pocket, free, gratis. As for the guaranteed bills, they do not afford much solid security, being a juggle more or less on the lines of the famous vales or "pagarés" with which some of our astute provinces bought the bonds on which they were allowed issues. We can scarcely imagine that steady, conservative Chile would tolerate any fast and loose playing with her finances, and suppose that the exact details must be essentially different from those stated. If not, we can only exclaim "Poor Chile."

Messrs. R. y J. Carlisle and Co. one of the oldest established and best reputed firms in this market, have conferred full general powers on Mr. A. M. Wilson and Mr. Chas Alexander in their business, and also on Mr. Hugh Wilson in their insurance department as representative of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Co. All three have been for a long time connected with the firm, and we have much pleasure in giving the news.

There was a brisker movement in gold at the second hour than might have been expected from the dead-and-alive state of the market, but there was no change in positions. which remain practically unaltered, the price opening at 298, rallying to 298¼, relapsing to 297.80 and closing at 298,20, which was a level pass of about 2 points. Stocks were neglected.

We cannot suppose for a moment that the Belgian Syndicate, which has offered to found a bank in Chile on the basis of a deposit in the Bank of England of 8 million's sterling worth of European bonds, will receive the slightest encouragement to put its proposal into practical form, though it offers to introduce into Chile a minimum of six hundred thousand pounds, which is no fleabite, and would limit its discount rate to 8% per annum, which is high enough in all conscience. The syndicate does not ask for sole right of emission, a prudential reservation that speaks far its good sense and knowledge of South America, but the deposit in the Bank of England is quite enough to put a stopper on the whole business. If the bankers want to open relations they must take another tone.

The Rural Hail Insurance Company has made a new Departure that is alike creditable to its enterprise and likely to prove of benefit to the shareholders, if prudence and care are always kept to the fore. It offers to all the clients insured in the company advances in money on the scale of $500 per concession and at the rate of 12% por annum to be amortized in two years, the amount of loan in no case to exceed $8000. Agriculture is in such a bad way that handling it is like meddling with hot coals, but there can be little doubt that those most likely to do so with comparative security are the Insurance Companies who are in constant touch with the farmers know, their means and can gauge their needs. The losses in the flocks from the 'lombriz' both to the North and West are said to be very severe, many estancieros complaining that even on alfalfa they are losing fine sheep, year in year out this disease does almost untold harm. Last year there was no drought and consequently the increase should have given much higher clip than previous season. yet we see the wool-arrivals practically at an end now which means that we have had a smaller clip. The only explanation of it is the mortality from the 'lombriz' which is therefore an serious problem. An estanciero to the North tells us he lost all his young fine rams last year and half of them this year before he could get the disease under. What with locusts, tristeza and lombriz there are enough pests to make the estanciero turn grey.

The exchange market is practically at a stand-still, as there are few bills offering and takers hold back. We quote—

1,000 tons of maize at Rosario for Havre at 8s./6d.

500 ditto from the rivers for Antwerp at 8s/0d.

GENERAL.

French ss Aquitaine will sail to-morrow for Marseilles, with passengers and produce.

The Argentine ss. Vilna is expected from Paranagua.

Bills of health were given to-day to the steamers Louisiana for Bremen, Sardinian Prince for Brazil and N. York, Clifton for Deptford, Austrian for Liverpool and and Olympo for Dunkirk.

The British s s Ethelaida will leave for Rosario to-morrow, to load.

German s s Pontos shifted to-day from Dock 2 to Dock 1 to load live stock; also British s s Olympus from Dock.

The commander of the dispatch boat Condor reports that near to the entrance of Hope Bay there is a sunken rock not marked on the charts. It is covered with 3.6 metres of water, and its site is marked by a quantity of kelp. In the vicinity of the rock 11 to 13 metres of water is found. English chart: 554.

The commander of the Condor also reports that he has discovered two new anchorage grounds in Ultima Esperanza Gulf. Seven miles within the gulf and two miles to the north of a small island situated in mid-channel, is Consuelo Bay, which is sheltered from all winds but is only accessible to vessels drawing not more than 3.6 metres of water. The bottom is of mud and the holding ground is good.

About three miles to the north-west of Consuelo Bay there is another bay, which is also sheltered from all winds, which is not marked on the charts. The bottom is of mud, and there is from 15 to 18 metres of water. In entering this bay care must be taken of a reef running out on its southern side in the direction of E. S. E., of about a mile in length. The rest of the bay is clear. English chart: 561.

On March 9 there was placed on the centre of Arequipa Bank a conical iron buoy of 1.50 metres at the base and 2.70 metres in height, surmounted by a conical cage. The whole is painted red, with the name "Arequipa" in white letters. The buoy is to the north of Carrizal island, and about two cables' distance from it. English chart: 1301. Chilian: 44.

The leading shipowners and shipbuilders of the United States, or their representatives, met with the Senate Committee on Commerce at Washington to consider a scheme for the promotion of American shipping. The bill of Senatior Elkins which provides for discriminating duties favoring cargoes transported in American bottoms was discussed and was not deemed acceptable. The veteran ex-Senator Edmunds a high authority on International Law, expressed the opinion that its passage would abrogate all existing commercial treaties. It was finally decided that ex-Senator Edmunds should draw up bill to be acceptable to all parties, which is to be presented to the Senate Committee. It is said that this bill will provide for the transfer to American register of foreign built steamships owned by American citizens, they having others of equal class constructed in the United States. Also, for the payment of a subvention to American steamships of a fixed sum per mile travelled on outward bound trips to European, Central and South American and Oriental ports, payments to be based on the character, size and speed of the vessels, and to provide for the carrying of the mails etc.

There has never before been any such concerted action by all parties interested to secure legislation of this kind and it is thought that the result will be a most determined move towards reestablishing the American commercial marine.

A well known firm owning tugs in Liverpool has made arrangements to send ten tugs out here for service in Madero Port. The tugs belonging to the firm will fly the Argentine instead of the British flag.

La Plata Port.

Wednesday, May 19th.

ENTERED.

None.

GENERAL.

The Italian steamer Perseo is expected here to-morrow from Genoa.

The French mail steamer La Plata will sail for Genoa on Friday.

Merchants are looking forward to the shipment of the new maize to improve the present business position here, which could not be worse.

For the past two days here all business has been absolutely paralyzed; neither arrivals nor sailings of vessels, and no loading except a few small lots of hides and jerked beef for the French mail steamer La Plata. Even the coasting trade has gone to the dogs.

The British ss Sahara is loading live-stock at the Zavalla wharf.

With the coal cargoes expected here up to the end of the mounth, the total arrivals from the 1st inst. will reach 20,000 tons. This port is evidently destined to be the great coaling station in the River Plate.

Rosario Port.

May, 19th.

ENTERED

SAFETY IN THE TEAPOT

The serious inroads that Dyspepsia has made amongst the community of late years are largely due, the doctors assert, to the indulgence in cheap and inferior teas, in which many harmful elements are contained. Why so many persons should continue to be thus deluded is hard to understand, seeing that there is only the difference of a few cents per pound between the rubbish and the really good teas.

MAZAWATTEE

is the tea that the most eminent Physicians and Professors of Hygiene all cordially unite in certifying to be of the best and purest growth. It is mainly the product of the finest tea producing regions of Ceylon, and contains all the daintiness and beauty of flavor of the delicious Teas of Thirty Years Ago. Mazawattee, indeed, forms in itself a complete answer to all tea-detractors, and those who use it will find that it will mean to them

KEATING'S LOZENGES.

KEATING'S LOZENGES.
KEATING'S LOZENGES.

"A Simple Fact about" KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES. Ask through the world, in any country that can be named, you will find them largely sold. There is absolutely no remedy that is so speedy in giving relief, so certain to cure and yet the most delicate can take them.

"A TERRIBLE COUGH."
"A TERRIBLE COUGH."

"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12
"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL

UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.
UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.

The above speaks for itself. From strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Keating's Cough Lozenges is under stated. The operation was a specially severe one, and was performed by the specialist, Dr. H. I. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Since the operation the only means of relief is the use of these Lozenges. So successful are they that one affords immediate benefit although from the nature of the case the throat irritation is intense.

WEIGHT IN GOLD.
WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Under date Sept. 8th. 1891, Mr. Hill again writes:—"I should long since have been dead but for your Lozenges—they are worth their weigh in gold. I will gladly are and tell anyone what a splendid cough remedy they are."

Keating's Cough Lozenges, the unrivalled remedy for Coughs, Hoarseness, and Throat Troubles, are sold in Tins and Bottles by all Chemists.
